“A light amber-pink color leads to an appetizing, bone-dry palate laced with apricot, almond and tangy cherry flavors. Made from Grignolino grapes, the wine is crisp, light, mouthwatering and built for pairing with food—anything from caviar to potato chips to tuna tartare.” — Jim Gordon

In the early 1950s, a man named Leon Brendel started making rosé. Napa wasn't known for it. Hardly anyone was doing it. But he did it anyway. And he did it well. This Sparkling Rosé is a tribute to him, made with organic grapes, and a hint of rebellion, just as he did. Light carbonation helps elevate the refreshing and succulent characteristics of this wine making it extremely drinkable and easy to enjoy. Pour high—these wines are crafted to help make memories.
