

BORGO CONVENTI

2023 Friulano DOC Collio

Located in Italy's Friuli-Venezia Giulia region, Tenuta Borgo Conventi produces white wines from the hills of Collio, a DOC region known for producing exceptional and mineral-driven white wines due to its signature ponca soil series.

This unique soil is composed of marl and sandstone and contains marine fossils. The structure and elegance of the Collio white wines is also due to its ideal climate and location on the border of Slovenia and between the Julian Alps and the Adriatic Sea, which features significant differences in daytime and nighttime temperatures, resulting in complexity.

TASTING NOTES

On the nose it has great intensity and complexity. It is invitingly fragrant and fruit-driven with notes of alpine flowers and a pleasant hint of almond. In the mouth it is fresh and well-balanced with a nice backbone and a long aromatic finish.

PAIRING NOTES

Perfect as an aperitif. It complements hard cheeses, San Daniele Prosciutto, shrimp and raw fish dishes, first course pastas and risottos with vegetables, and chicken-based dishes.
